

Media ownership is centered in the hands of the few. Removing the already flimsy rules about such ownership would destroy even the pretense of independence in information sources.

Sincerely,
Evan